Most Bitterly Fought Convention In History Ended At 2:25 A. M. Today

GO TO THE WEST FOR VICE PRESIDENT

Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska elected By Democratic Convention to Be Running Mate of the Hon. John W. Davis

IS FORCED BY LEADERS

Selection of Bryan Made Only After Democrats Had Been Twice Turned Down By Prospective Candidates For the Vice Presidency

United Press Headquarters, Waldorf, Astoria Hotel, July 10.—John W. Davis of West Virginia for president, and Charles W. Bryan of Nebraska, for vice-president.

That Democratic ticket, coupling the conservative east with the progressive west, was brought out of the most bitterly contested convention in political history at 2:25 a. m. today. The nomination of the Nebraska governor was forced by a coterie of Democratic leaders, after he had been selected, personally, by Davis as his running mate. It came on the first ballot, furnishing a curious anti-climax to the fierce battle over the presidential nomination, which ended in a compromise on the 103rd ballot late yesterday afternoon.

Selection of Bryan was made only after the Democrats had been twice turned down by prospective candidates for the vice presidency. Senator Walsh of Montana, Davis's first choice, in a letter to the convention, formally refused the offer, stating that he could best serve his party by running for re-election to the Senate. The name of Edwin T. Meredith of Iowa was withdrawn after he had refused to run with Davis on the ground that he was too conservative to appeal to the agricultural west.

Davis was unwilling to accept any of the nine candidates who had been nominated formally. A recess of an hour was called at midnight while Davis went into conference with leaders at the historic Democratic rendezvous, the Manhattan Club, across the street from Madison Square Garden.

When Bryan was finally hit upon, Chairman Cordell Hull, Tom Taggart, Senator Pat Harrison, and other leaders, bare-headed, rushed back to the Garden to get Bryan's acceptance. He met them at the door and speedily gave his consent. It was necessary to place him in nomination and Harry B. Flaherty was rounded up to name him. Bryan himself told his sponsor to make his speech "short and snappy." Flaherty complied and the balloting began.

Worn out by two weeks of bickering and strife and three hours of the oratory during the fore part of the evening, hundreds of the delegates had departed for home. The galleries were all but deserted. Less than

No Blame Attached To Driver Of Automobile In Canonsburg Death

500 spectators remained of the vast crowd that jammed the galleries to give Gov. Al Smith of New York, their hero, a thunderous ovation and, Davis, who appeared by invitation, a cordial welcome. Most of the delegates' seats were filled by "ringers." Chairman Walsh had turned the gavel over to Representative Barkley of Kentucky, who had great difficulty in controlling the crowd after the balloting got under way. But the dim that marked the earlier sessions was gone. Voices rang out clear and sharp in the huge hall.

Humorists made the balloting more difficult. They voted for men and women whose names were unfamiliar to the tally clerks.

Bryan got away slowly until the word was passed that he was Davis's choice.

After casting half of the Illinois vote for Mayor Hylan of New York as a compliment, George E. Brennan of Illinois, led the switching which ended in Bryan amassing a total of 739 votes, more than the necessary two-thirds. He was followed by Franklin D. Roosevelt who cast New York's 90 votes solidly for Bryan. Then Mayor Frank Hague of Jersey City, whipped his delegates into the line and the landslide was on.

George L. Berry of Tennessee, the soldier-labor candidate, was off to a running start. He finished with 204 votes when the switching ended. But the oratory during the fore part of the evening, hundreds of the delegates had departed for home. The galleries were all but deserted. Less than

Driver Drunk; Fined, And Is Held For Court

George Rocheck, who was arrested Sunday, charged with operating a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor, was given a hearing yesterday morning before Alderman R. L. Eitwood of Monongahela.

It developed that the accused was also charged with operating a car minus a driver's license. On the latter charge he paid a fine and costs, and on the first he furnished bail in the sum of $500 for court.

Rocheck, in a drunken condition, was holding up traffic on the Monongahela-Finleyville highway, and was arrested by Constable Ben Gibson of Monongahela.

UNCLE SAM IS ASSURED TO WIN IN OLYMPIC GAMES

Colombes Stadium, Paris, July 10.—The United States is assured of victory in the 1924 Olympic track and field games.

Thanks to the sterling performances of our athletes on the first four days, we have piled up a load of 62 points over Finland, our closest competitor. And allowing the Finns three more first places in the runs and possible victories in the field, it is only the faintest ghost of a show that the American team can be beaten.

We qualified four men in the pole vault, among the seven finalists, and might make a clean sweep of this event, which was scheduled for 3:30 p. m.

In other events to be contested, such as the Hammer throw and the 400 metres, the United States has great strength.

The famed Nurmi of Finland is looked to to run away with at least two of the longer runs, but the United States, with Lloyd Hahn, B. A. A. Ray Buker, I. A. C., and Ray Watson, a team mate of Buker, qualified in the 1,500 metres, the American coaches hope for points.

TRAIN WRECK IS A LUCKY ONE—NONE IS INJURED

A wreck, which had it occurred 30 seconds before would have cost the lives of a score of men, women and children, was an event at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the P. and L. E. Railroad, when 10 cars, filled with iron ore for the Pittsburgh Steel Company, were derailed a short distance below the Charleroi-Monessen bridge.

The train of 76 cars, shipped from Ashtabula Harbor to the Monessen Steel mill, was pulling into the yards when a flange, seventeen inches long, broke on the sixth car back of the engine. Ten cars, heavily loaded with the ore were thrown across the tracks of the P. and L. E., causing considerable damage to the rails and tracks. Traffic over the lines was stopped for some time, and trains sent over the tracks in the mill yards, until repairs were made. Wrecking crews were rushed to the scene from the Monongahela railroad and the McKees Rocks division.

NOT A PERSON LEAVES HIS SEAT

Philadelphia, Pa., July 10.—The extent to which theatres have mastered crowd psychology was given an unexpected test at the Earle Theatre here when, with the house filled, the lighting system failed, leaving the audience in total darkness. To add to the vividness of the occasion the electrically driven pipe organ ceased playing with a long-drawn wail.

Almost instantaneously the corps of carefully trained women ushers distributed themselves in the exits and at the front and back of the theatre with lighted flashlights directed over the audience. Not a person left his seat during the period of nearly ten minutes while the trouble was being remedied at the power house.

Supporting Mr. Walton in his metropolitan attraction will be found such well-known favorites as the Cadillac Four, Rose and Walton, the Dixie Dancers, Gypsy Walton, de luxe Blue singer, the Saxophone Three, and a bevy of chorus misses, stunning costumes, and beautiful scenic and electrical effects, are but a few of the good things which Walton's Bubbleland Company will offer the patrons of the Palace Theatre commencing Monday, July 14. 3011*

Mother Gets Word That Cheers Heart

Mrs. Neil Boyle of Victory Hill, mother of John Boyle, is in receipt of a letter from him which disproves the story that he possibly was "Dapper Dan" who was killed in the Philadelphia gang war at Philadelphia June 28.

Mrs. Marie Boyle, wife of John Boyle, who resides in Cemetery street, Monongahela, following the publication of an article in a Pittsburgh newspaper to the effect that "Dapper Dan" had been killed, at once began an investigation to determine if the dead man was her husband.

Mrs. Boyle, through the Monongahela police department, sent photographs of her husband to the Philadelphia department of justice, in an effort to establish identification of "Dapper Tommy" Boyle. A photograph was received in Monongahela of the dead man, which does not tally with that of John Boyle, formerly of Monongahela. Mrs. Boyle was of the opinion that the deceased might be her husband, inasmuch as she had received letters from her husband postmarked Philadelphia.

Donora Mill Worker Smothered To Death Under Pile Of Coal

Early yesterday morning, Dominick Aquino, 28 years old, of Donora, was smothered to death when in some manner he was buried under a pile of coal in the bin of the boiler house of the Donora Wire mill. It is thought the top to the bottom of the pile, causing a large amount of coal to slide with him and cover him.

He was missed at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon. Workmen who had seen him last near the coal bin dug and uncovered him but he had been dead for some time. His body was taken to the Rabe mortuary to be prepared for burial. He leaves his wife and two children.

TRYING TO BREAK RING

Pittsburgh, July 10.—State troopers are engaged in breaking up a liquor ring which they claim ships whisky to Western Pennsylvania by automobile direct from the Atlantic coast.

The automobiles travel by night according to Sergeant A. J. Downing of Troop A, Greensburg, who has been sent to Pittsburgh especially to get a line on the operations of the liquor traffic.

Since coming here Sergeant Downing has found he has also to deal with another line of action used by bootleggers to get liquor into Pittsburgh and Western Pennsylvania points. This is beer rail shipment from eastern points which is routed through parties in the transaction and it becomes almost impossible to trace guilt in the shipment. With steady regularity, however, the state police are locating and seizing loads of beer before they can pass through Pittsburgh. Confiscation of a car load of beer, worth $4,000, is a more severe blow to the bootlegger than a large fine.

A BILLION SAVED

The people of the United States will be saved a billion dollars during the fiscal year if President Calvin Coolidge is supported by Congress.

The president in his speech before the Government's Business Organization meeting, composed of the heads of the different branches of the government made it plain that he was going to cut to the bone on all spending of the public's money. Mr. Coolidge did not mince words in his address, he made it very plain that not a dollar must be wasted and that appropriations must be kept down to the minimum.

that the business of government had been established on an efficient basis and that he intended that it should be kept that way. He emphasized the fact that one of the greatest perils of an extensive republic was the regard of individual rights, he said, "A government which lays taxes on the people not required by urgent public necessity and sound public policy is not a protector of liberty, but an instrument of tyranny. Unless the people can enjoy that reasonable security in the possession of their property, which is guaranteed by the Constitution against unreasonable taxation, freedom is at an end. The common man is restrained and hampered in his ability to secure food and clothing and shelter. His wages are decreased, his hours of labor lengthened." The president pointed out in most emphatic terms that he stood today as he always has for the strictest economy in the expenditure of the people's money. He pointed out that the fiscal year ending June 30, 1921 expenditures amounted to over $5,000,000,000 and that the next three years under the budget system the expenditures were brought down to $3,795,000,000—$3,697,000,000 and $3,497,000,000 respectively. He pointed out that the public debt had been reduced $2,722,000,000 during this same period and that the saving in interest alone to the people had been more than $120,000,000 each year.

RISING FROM THE RUINS

The forces of nature still defy the protective inventions of man and nothing can stay their destructive violence when once let loose. In no particular, not even the earthquake, is this more true than in the case of the tornado which now and again suddenly leaps forth out of mysterious atmospheric travail and leaves black tragedy in its wake. These fearsome visitations seem to be more destructive in the Mississippi Valley than in any other part of the world, possibly because of its open, unobstructed, yet thickly populated country for many hundreds of miles. The latest of these reaped its tragic harvest farther north than usual, along the lake shore of Ohio, the death list in Lorain alone reaching 100 with an estimated property loss of $25,000,000.

This was a heavy blow to a little city of 40,000, but its people have faced the calamity with great courage, without waiting for outside help. The dispatches show them unitedly at work burying their dead, clearing away the ruins and planning reconstruction on improved lines, in the typical unconquerable American spirit which so often before has promptly striven with the ravages of fire, flood or tornado. The new Lorain will rise from its ruins and triumphantly eclipse the old.

It is ours—within our province—to lend our sympathy, and still better, our financial aid.

The P. C.—What's the matter, madam? Have you vertigo?

Oh, yes, constable, about two miles!

Farmer—Be this the Women's Exchange?

Woman—Yes.

Farmer—Be ye the woman?

Woman—Yes.

Farmer—Well, then, I think I'll keep Maggie.

Elizabeth came to school one day in a state of suppressed excitement.

Going straight to the teacher's desk, she exclaimed exultantly, "I've got a new little sister!"

"How very nice!" replied the teacher.

"Yes," said Elizabeth, "but this is only a half sister."

"Why, that doesn't make any difference, does it?"

"No, but I never can understand where the other half is."

Conan Doyle claims dogs and cats will have a place in heaven. Well, it may be heaven for the dogs, but it will be hell for the cats.

He is a good friend who speaks well of us behind our backs.

Gladys at a bridge party recently heard a young bride at a nearby table remark: "My husband telephoned home this afternoon that he had invited fourteen people home to dinner tomorrow night. What would you get?" "A divorce," said her elderly partner.

WE ALL KNOW HIM.

Jack—What kind of a fellow is Blinks?

Bill—He is one of those fellows who always grab the stool when there is a piano to be moved.

Science has found the midnight kiss the safest. But young suitors should be well on the way home by that hour.

Men talk about money; women talk about men. The thing that intrigues us is the thing that is hard to get.

Somehow a fellow never complains of falling into a fortune.

Must Cultivate Food

The common impression that the food of Samoa Islanders "falls in their laps" is quite wrong, says Prof. W. A. Setchell of the University of California. There are few edible plant products obtained there without regular attention. Every native village has its plantation where the famous bread fruit, bananas and coconuts are raised. The plantations are generally in forest clearings and are allowed to grow up in all sorts of weeds.

Strength of Ice

Science has enabled great military leaders to know when they might cross a river or lake of ice with comparative safety. By actual experiment and computation, it has been found that ice two inches thick will support a man; four inches thick, a man on horseback; five inches thick, an 80-pound gun; eight inches thick, a battery of artillery, and ten inches thick, an army.

Facts About Circus

The American circus as a business venture dates from the days of its inception when it first appeared in 1767 on Boston Common. The first circus to take to the road was founded by Aaron Turner about 1820 at North Salem, N. Y., and the first of the long-lived American circuses pitched its tent in 1824 and bore the name of John Robinson.

Fast Ocean Traveler

There are no speed regulations for the sailfish, the speed demon of the Gulf stream, a giant ocean traveler that can make more than sixty miles an hour, can rise clear of the water and travel in the air a distance of forty feet by the use of a great back fin that acts as a sail, according to a writer in Adventure magazine.

Road to Success

Men are best measured by what they do, not by what they say. The bigger the man the bigger the obstacles he overcame to be great. Success lies in fitting oneself to the job, not in fitting the job to capabilities and abilities as they are.—Pennsylvania Grit.

Burmese Wife a Worker

The Burmese woman is usually the business head of the family and according to authorities her highest ambition is to maintain her husband in lordly idleness and to supply him with abundant funds for cock fighting, bullock cart racing and gambling.

Prolific Composer

Alessandro Scarlatti, who is called the founder of modern opera, was a prolific composer of music. He left over 100 operas, 200 masses and numerous cantatas and oratorios, and invented accompanied recitatives.

Romance Important

A little grain of the romance is no ill ingredient to preserve and exalt the dignity of human nature, without which it is apt to degenerate into everything that is sordid, vicious and low.—Swift.

To Get Rid of Ants

Dusting liberal amounts of fresh pyrethrum powder each day where ants are travelling will prove helpful in ridding the house of them in case the nest cannot be found. Dusting or blowing sodium fluoride about where ants are found has proved satisfactory. This powder will be effective for several days, but care should be exercised in its use, as it sometimes irritates the skin and the membranes of the nose. It should be placed beyond the reach of children. This powder is an effective remedy for cockroaches. Small sponges dipped in sweetened water will attract large numbers of ants, after which they may be killed by dipping the sponges in boiling water. The process should be repeated as often as necessary.

Patent Leather

Patent leather, also known as japanned and enameled leather, was made in America as early as 1818 by Seth Boyden of Newark. However, it has only been in late years that the American product has reached the excellence of that made in France and Germany. Patent leather in this country is made from chrome-tanned skins. Several varnish coats of a mixture of lampblack and linseed oil are applied to the grain side of the leather. The first coats are dried and rubbed down so as to work the liquid well into the leather, while the last coat is applied with a brush, then baked at a temperature of from 120 to 140 degrees Fahrenheit for 36 hours and dried in sunlight for from six to ten hours.

Annual Rainfall

A vivid picture of the amount of rain that falls upon the United States is given by a Washington scientist. It is equivalent, he says, to ten Mississippi rivers flowing constantly. Otherwise measured, it equals 30 inches of water for the entire area, making a total volume of 132,000,000,000,000 cubic feet. But this is only half the amount that would be necessary to maintain the full productivity of the soil of the whole country. One-third of this amount runs down to the sea and rivers. The problem for engineers to solve is the utilization to the utmost of the supply that nature furnishes.

Whale's Small Throat

The blue whale, the largest animal alive today, reaching a length in excess of 80 feet, with a mouth so large that ten to twelve men could stand therein, has a throat but about eight inches in diameter. This is one of the whalebone whales, all of which feed upon minute crustaceans, especially the little red shrimp which is about three-fourths of an inch long. As much as four barrels of this shrimp have been found in the stomach of a blue whale, which even then was not full.

Domestic science experts say,
"Cream of Tartar baking powder is the best"

Recently a representative group of Domestic Science experts in all parts of the country was asked "which type of baking powder do you use and prefer?" 83% unhesitatingly replied "Cream of Tartar." An overwhelming sentiment in favor of cream of tartar for perfect baking.

Cream of tartar was one of the first leavening agents to be used in baking. For years the best cooks insisted on cream of tartar for perfect cakes, biscuits and other baked foods. Then came Royal Baking Powder, in which are perfectly blended soda and pure cream of tartar derived from grapes grown in the famous vineyards of Southern Europe. For 50 years Royal Baking Powder has been used by the housewives of America for successful baking.

SPANS CONTINENT, DAWN TO DUSK

Lieut. Russell L. Maughan, U. S. A., standing beside the plane in which he made his record breaking trip June 23rd, when he crossed the Continent from New York to San Francisco during daylight, making the trip in 21 hours, 48½ minutes elapsed time, of which only 18 hours, 26½ minutes was actual flying time.

THE MIGHTY HUDSON BRIDGED ONLY 40 MILES ABOVE NEW YORK

Photo, taken from the West Pier, at Bear Mountain, looking across the temporary footbridge which has just been thrown across the Hudson River to Peekskill, N. Y., to aid in construction of the big toll bridge which will soon supersede the ferry and will be the first vehicular connection between east and west bank of the Hudson below Poughkeepsie, 80 miles above New York City. The two giddy foot paths, each supported by two steel cables 2½ inches in diameter, are nine feet wide. At their lowest point they are 180 feet above the water. The permanent bridge will be suspended from 18-inch steel cables supported by steel towers 360 feet high. The river is two thousand feet wide at this point.

TWO CHARMING "POSSIBILITIES" FOR THE PRINCE OF WALES' BRIDE

The two charming sister princesses who are regarded as distinct possibilities as brides for the Prince of Wales—if H. R. H. ever makes up his mind to "marry and settle down". At the left is Princess Astrid, of Sweden; at the right, Princess Martha. They are the daughters of Prince Charles, of Sweden, Duke of the Vestrogoths, and of Princess Ingeborg. Their mother, a Danish princess by birth, is a sister of Christian X, King of Denmark, and a niece of Queen Mother Alexandra of England, Wales' grandmother, who was of Danish birth and ancestry, thus the princesses are second cousins of the heir to Britain's throne. Princess Astrid was born November 17, 1905; Princess Martha, March 28, 1901.

Selected Best of All Traveling Companions

The Chinese have a fable of a man who was once summoned to appear for trial under an unjust accusation. The place where he was to be tried was far distant and the journey was long and hard. Just before starting, three disguised figures suddenly appeared and asked to accompany him.

After listening to the offer of all these and weighing carefully their statements the poor man decided to choose the latter. Whereupon the disguises were removed and he found the first to be riches, the second his friends, and the third his virtues. Is there any doubt that his choice was wise?

How Trollope Worked

In the "Autobiography of Anthony Trollope," of which there is a recent reprint, appears an account of that to the circumstances of the time—whether his other business might be then heavy or light, or whether the book which I was writing was or was not wanted with speed—I have allotted myself so many pages a week. The average number has been about forty. It has been placed as low as 20, and has risen to 112. And, as a page is an ambiguous term, my page has been made to contain 250 words; and as words, if not watched, will have a tendency to straggle, I have had every word counted as I went. . . . There has ever been the record before me, and a week passed with an insufficient number of pages has been a blister to my eye, and a month so disgraced would have been a sorrow to my heart.

Weather and Leather

Many people say their corns warn them of changes in the weather, but the corn is probably merely registering the changes in the area of the leather in the shoe. This varies with the amount of moisture in the air. A 2 per cent change from normal, either way is about all the average foot can stand without discomfort. Recently J. A. Wilson gave the New York section of the American Chemical society the results of experiments which show that the amount of the pinching may depend on the kind of tanning used on the leather. He found that chrome leather absorbed more water from the air than did vegetable-tanned calf, and was subject to much greater changes in area, with much more likelihood of pinching.

Beethoven Relics

Pilgrims to Beethoven's birthplace at Bonn, Germany, in which are housed many relics of the immortal musician, may now see the tenor violin which he played as a boy in the Bonn orchestra of the Kurfürst. When Beethoven left Bonn in 1792 he gave the instrument to his teacher and friend, Franz Ries, whose great-grandson has presented it to the Beethoven museum. In the same museum can be seen the set of old Italian instruments given to Beethoven in 1802 by Fürst Lichnowsky, on which all the Beethoven quartettes were first played.

Something Lacking

"A small boy was knocked down by an automobile recently," says the Southeast Missorian. "When he was taken to a doctor somebody investigated and found in his pockets five tops, 73 brass buttons, 69 marbles, two oranges, a wooden cigarette holder, a pair of clappers, ten cigarettes, a mouth organ and a Jew's harp. At that, though, the Missorian refuses to believe he was a normal boy because the collection did not include a teardrop or at least a couple of white rats."

THE TICKET COUPLES EAST WITH THE WEST

for Berry. Although Col. Alvin M. Owsley, former commander of the American Legion, was withdrawn by Texas, he finished with 16 votes.

Bennett Clark, son of the late speaker Champ Clark, of Missouri, had a total of 41 votes, and Mrs. Percy Springs of South Carolina, 18. Others who stuck to the end were Gov. Glynn, Rhode Island, 15; Gov. Silzer, New Jersey, 8; former Ambassador Gerard, 10; Mayor Hyman, 6; Newton D. Baker, 7; Senator Pittman, Nevada, 6, and Jonathan M. Davis, Kansas, 5. The rest of the votes were scattered.

Several times before the necessary two-thirds was reached, motions were made to nominate Bryan by acclamation. These suggestions were greeted by boos and hisses from the Berry supporters. The crowd was restless and continually called to Barkley to announce when Bryan had enough votes. Most of the delegates put on their hats and moved toward the exits.

During the switching that held the hall in bedlam for half an hour, William J. Bryan, sitting as a delegate from Florida, noted for his hostess nomination.

The vote was announced in silence. Bryan's vote was greeted by an outburst of applause, followed by boos, hisses and cat-calls. The crowd made a rush for the doors before the full list of names could be read or the motion to adjourn the convention put.

Barkley announced that Permanent Chairman Walsh was to make the formal notification speech to Davis and Temporary Chairman Pat Harrison would notify Bryan.

The band struck up "Home, Sweet Home," and the crowd trickled out into the night. The convention was ended.

Tabbie Had Been Busy

Artisans were placing the last of the marble slabs around the walls of a bank in Pittsburgh when a cat was discovered behind the slabs. All efforts with cream and other plianties failed to coax her out; neither could she be caught with wire hooks or other devices. The whole day was wasted while the marble-setters waited. Finally a small boy—a very small boy—crawled into the crevice and brought out Tabbie—and nine kittens.

His "Think" Unchanged

When Hobart makes up his mind to anything, it is a hard matter to change him. One day when he decided to do something his sister did not want him to do she talked to him for a long time trying to persuade him to see her point of view. When she finally desisted from lack of further reasons, he said: "You see, Mille, you've wasted all your talk, for my think is just where it was when you started."

Actors' Superstition

When a train from London to Aberdeen was halfway across the Forth bridge all the members of a theatrical party traveling in it threw coins from the windows into the river. Asked for an explanation, one of their number said they were prompted by a superstition common among actors and actresses going to Scotland—London Til-Eits.

Bunker's Hill

The Massachusetts Historical society says that Charles Bunker, an early settler of Charlestown, who died in 1684, owned about ten acres of land on the highest hill in that town, which has ever since been known as Bunker's hill. The battle, though not fought on his pasture, took place in its neighborhood and carried the name of Bunker with it.

To Clean Clock

To clean a clock saturate a piece of absorbent cotton about as large as a hen's egg with kerosene oil and place it in the bottom. Close the door and let the cotton remain for three or four days. Then take it out and swing the pendulum. Unless something is broken the clock will go all right, as the fumes from the oil cleanse the works.

Odor of Paint

After a room has been painted, an excellent way to remove the smell of the paint is to place a pail of water, to which have been added a few slices of raw onion, in the room and leave it there overnight. Keep the doors and windows closed and the smell will be entirely gone by morning.

Trade Wind

A trade wind is a wind blowing more or less steadily toward the thermal equator and deflected westwardly by the eastward rotation of the earth. Such winds are primarily produced by the upward current of heated air at the equator, and vary considerably in their position and in their direction, according to the season of the year and the influence of the surface of the land of different regions. They are steadfast in the Southern Hemisphere.
